Mo3 – Patient Access Operations – Going the Extra Mile!
Speaker: John Worley, RHIA, CHAM, FHAM
Optum360, Vice-President, Patient Access Revenue Cycle Operations

This presentation focuses upon high performing organizations and their ability to positively use the changing economy to their competitive advantage. Looking at multiple “performance levers” such as Revenue Leakage, Financial Acceleration programs, and Customer Acquisition and Retention programs, we will “Go the Extra Mile” and achieve customer service excellence! The battle for customers will have winners and losers. However, those that act aggressively to develop and implement fact-based, customer-centric strategies—focused on providing differentiated experiences that build trust—will outmaneuver those who focus on merely surviving.

To1 – From Education to Implementation
Redesigning the Patient Experience
Speaker: Suzanne Lestina,
Vice President
Revenue Cycle Innovation, Avadyne Health

The patient experience is increasingly driving allocation of healthcare dollars, and the financial aspect of the Patient Experience (PFX) has been insufficiently considered and addressed by the marketplace. PFX is defined as your patients’ perception of all financial touch points within your organization. Unfortunately, while health systems excel at providing excellent clinical integration, many organizations struggle with patient financial communication integration.

During this session we will explore the reasons why organizations struggle to create a fully integrated patient financial communication process. This interactive session will explore the potential barriers to developing an integrated patient engagement program and identify ways to overcome these barriers. Attendees will discuss the following four key components: culture, technology, resources, and integration.

To2 – Bookends of the Patient Experience: Mayo Clinic’s Improvement Strategies from Admission to Discharge
Speaker: Yvonne Chase, MBA, CHAM, FHAM, Mayo Clinic

In this presentation, Mayo Clinic will share strategies to improve patient experience across the continuum of care – from pre-service, to time of service to post-service activities. The session will share revenue cycle tools and processes used to streamline patient access, coordinate patient care, and conduct patient follow-up post discharge – all while monitoring patient interactions to ensure clear and accurate communication from the first point of contact to the last. Attendees will walk away with proven methods to impact patient experience at their organizations.

To3 – Metrics, Communication, Influence, and Accountability: How actionable data can drive results in patient access
Speaker: Julie Kay, Vice President,
Cerner Ambulatory Revenue Cycle

Leveraging data to gain greater visibility into business processes, identifying opportunities and influencing behavior are all instrumental in improving overall metrics throughout the revenue cycle. This presentation will demonstrate how gaining intelligence from patient account resolution processes can effect change in patient access that impact key financial metrics. Discover best practice steps for collecting actionable data in the billing, denials management, and self-pay collections process, effectively communicate to drive change and produce results in patient access. Finally, unlock the key to success through adopting education strategies and developing cross-functional teams that drive continuous improvement.

WORKSHOP
1:45 pm to 3:15 pm

To4 – NAHAM Patient Access Keys
Speaker:
Paul Shorros, Founder & CEO
AccuReg Front-End Revenue Capture Specialists

The NAHAM Patient Access Keys were created from the minds of a dedicated group of NAHAM member peers. Unprecedented in the field of Patient Access, this new tool will fill a gap in the front-end of the revenue cycle, helping define the complex and ever-changing registration processes which is often times little understood by revenue cycle managers. Furthermore, this new offering will reshape your understanding of how your facility’s Patient Access department’s performance compares to other similar healthcare organizations across the United States.

Never before have Patient Access managers been able to use standardized simple equations to measure, for example, Point of Service Collections to Revenue, and then compare that score against industry benchmarks, thus measuring outcomes, not merely activities.
